

2D Materials: an industrial revolution in progress

Antonio H. Castro Neto

NUS, Singapore

2D Materials such as graphene and its derivatives, chalcogenides, and many others, are slowly becoming more familiar to industrialists and entrepreneurs in terms of their superior physical and chemical properties. In parallel, the science and technology of these materials is progressing fast. In this talk, I will review some of the latest developments and future prospects.